

SR99: Lousa Bungalow

Detached 2 bed bungalow, large separate studio and guest accommodation, land with fruit and olive trees.

This property is a lovely two bedroom house with separate guest accommodation and wonderful views of the Lousã mountains. The house has a large open plan living room with a woodburning stove and three windows overlooking a flowery garden. There is a window overlooking to the front with fantastic mountain views. It has wooden flooring and archways, one leading to a good sized kitchen. The kitchen has a tiled floor, wooden units, utility area with a sink, washing machine, fridge, barle worktop and a wood burner. The house also has a family bathroom. The two bedrooms are a good size, suitable for double beds. The front and back doors of the house lead out to a porch with views of mountains, and there are steps down to the courtyard. This leads to an L-shaped studio apartment which is a large studio with a kitchen area and open fire place. It has large picture windows which have the sun on them all day. There is a big bedroom with a corner fireplace and doors out to the courtyard. The courtyard has a cooking area, a dining area and is on staggered levels with a flowerbed and a large pond. The studio also has a wetroom and toilet attached to it. There is also another barn area which could be made into two further bedrooms. There is a large car parking space.

The land measures approximately 1,500 metres and has been farmed. There are huge organic vegetable plots, lots of fruit trees and olives and gardens all round the property.

The property is in a very peaceful setting, near a gorge with a river beach. It feels secluded but is only 10 mins from a rail station.

The nearest village has no facilities, however there is a little town 10 minutes away where there are bars, cafes, shops, gym and a rail station.

Price: 99,950 euros
